

The most advanced non-surgical neck and face lift

Feeling bad about those neck folds or that loose skin on your face? As we age, everybody gets loosening of the skin. What if there was a way to address skin laxity without going under the knife?

Facial concerns such as jowls, deepening marionette lines, sagging eyelids, loose neck folds, fine lines and wrinkles can be treated using the latest cosmetic medical technology.

Ultraformer therapy is a completely non-invasive face and neck lifting treatment. It uses micro-macro focused ultrasound to lift and tighten the skin without downtime. Safe, quick and easy with high patient satisfaction and minimal discomfort.

Treatments can be done during your lunchbreak and being non-invasive, patients can return to daily activities immediately after treatment. Results will vary but patients typically only need one to two treatments spaced 6 months apart. You will notice some initial lifting and tightening which improves over the following 2 to 3 months. Contact the SCCC for more information on the optimal treatment for your skin concerns.
